DPS also has a deep network of top IT leaders across the U.S. that assist us in confidentially finding the right IT leaders for your organization to drive your business forward.

Our success starts with truly understanding the client's project and their resource needs, if you get that wrong you waste everyone's time. Most firms today utilize sales and recruiting teams with little to no IT experience. These teams struggle eventually, they send every resume they see, making their client the recruiter and HR manager. It will quickly become clear to you what sets us apart as a top IT staffing services and executive search partner.
